WELL, BESIDES DAMAGING OUR DRUG TRADE, THE MURDOCK CLINIC HAS ALSO DONE SERIOUS DAMAGE TO OUR REAL ESTATE INTERESTS.
HE'S RALLIED THE COMMUNITY INTO PUTTING IMMENSE STREET PRESSURE ON THAT LOT OWNER NOT TO SELL OUT.
IF WE DON'T GET THAT LOT, IT WILL RUIN OUR DEAL TO BUY AN ENTIRE CITY BLOCK, AND BUILD THE TALLEST BUILDING IN MANHATTAN.
THAT MUST GO THROUGH! I MUST HAVE THAT BUILDING! APPLY PRESSURE BACK, ANY WAY YOU CAN, TONIGHT!
YES, KINGPIN.
TO CONTINUE-- MURDOCK WON A TENANT'S RIGHT CASE THAT RUINED A TEN MILLION DOLLAR CONDO VENTURE FOR US.
AND HIS WORK WITH THE GRASSROOTS ENVIRONMENTALISTS AGAINST KELCO IS ACTUALLY MAKING HEADWAY...
WE'LL WIN. EVERYONE'S BOUGHT OFF, CORRECT?
OF COURSE, BUT...
THAT CASE IS DESIGNED TO SHOW MURDOCK THAT THERE'S NO SUCH THING AS A JUSTICE SYSTEM.
WE HAVE TO WIN.
BZZZZZZZZ!

UH, SIR... I MUST REMIND YOU, THAT YOU'RE VIOLATING YOUR OWN RULES OF DISTANCE BY HAVING ME REPORT ON THE NUTS AND BOLTS OF CASES.
IF YOU COULD JUST RELAX AND LET ME TAKE CARE OF ALL THESE PETTY ANNOYANCES, YOU'D BE FREE TO THINK OF THE BIGGER PICTURE. IT IS WHAT YOU DO BEST, SIR.
YOU ALREADY CRUSHED MURDOCK, ONCE.
HE'S PROBABLY MISERABLE. LET IT REST!

THIS IS WHAT YOU MUST DO TOMORROW.
BZZZZZZZ
UH, EXCUSE ME SIR, BUT TOMORROW IS CHRISTMAS.

YES, SIR.
HUMPH. I HAD NO IDEA. HOW COULD I HAVE FORGOTTEN? NO MATTER. A USELESS WASTE OF A BUSINESS DAY.

DEVIL'S ADVOCATE

RALPH MACCHIO: editor—MARC SIRY: assistant editor

℅ MARVEL COMICS GROUP-387 Park Avenue South-New York, New York-10016

Dear Ann, Rick, Al, Joe, Petra, Ralph, Marc, and Tom,

Seventy-five cents. Some people may complain about the price of a comic book. Not me. I would have paid seventy-five cents for the splash page alone of DAREDEVIL #248!

After reading in MARVEL AGE that Rick Leonardi was going to be the regular artist on DAREDEVIL, I anxiously awaited July 10th (the on sale date). I knew that due to Ann's writing, Rick's pencils, and the rest of the creative team the issue would be at the very least, fantastic. I was not disappointed.

Little things are what help to make a comic book so special. The skateboard race between the guy in the red suit (not Santa Claus) and the Fatboys, the MARVEL COMICS sticker on the bottom of Eightball's skateboard, the discussion with the horse and buggy man, all help to add a sense of life to the pages. It makes you forget that you are reading a work of fiction, and that if you step outside, Daredevil will swing over your head, blowing a few hairs out of place.

Hornhead's eventual realization that D.D. needs Matt Murdock (D.D.'s true I.D.) and vice-versa will be painful for him at times; but this way he has a chance to fight battles that he cannot fight as Daredevil. I wholeheartedly approve of the "ghost lawyer" set-up. Will Matt ever become a full fledged lawyer again?

Hopefully Ann, Rick and the rest of the crew will set a record for most consecutive issues by the same creative team. So till Matt Murdock gets a seeing-eye-dog, Make Mine Marvel!

Ken Fries
146-23 22 Ave
Whitestone, NY 11357

P.S. Congratulations to Max Scheele on her wedding!

We'll pass your congratulations along to Max (also known as Christie)! So tell us, Ken, what do you have against seeing-eye dogs? Did one eat your homework or something? Will Matt ever become a lawyer again? Good question. We can't give you an answer at this time, but it is an outstanding question. Keep reading.

We do have a bit of sad news, though. Rick was not the new regular penciler — as you can see, he has moved on to other projects. However, all is not lost, as you can see by the fine work by John Romita Jr. in this issue, and in every issue to come — he's the new regular penciler on the book. We expect to see your raves arrive in the mailbox any day now!

Dear Marvel,

I was planning to stop buying DAREDEVIL. I wasn't enjoying it much anymore. It was literate, but it was drab, dismal, depressing, and unexciting. Karen wasn't much of a character . . . and neither was the ex-lawyer, Matt Murdock, who worried too much and seemed to have instantly lost his newfound sense of self and purpose. Most of the feelings in the comic were cold ones. So was my reaction.

It seemed worth trying issue #248, if for nothing else than the Leonardi art (always a pleasure). Give it one last chance, I told myself. After all, this was Matt Murdock, Daredevil, once the best character in comics.

And you know . . . I liked it.

There was some sense of purpose in it, some positive action. We at last were shown the attitude of Matt towards his city and his place in it now. Karen showed some initiative — though I find it a little surprising that she could have made all those arrangements without Matt's knowledge — or that she would. (These two are living together, aren't they?)

I was delighted to see Glorianna and Foggy again. And the Kingpin. And danger on all horizons. I hope Foggy does something himself, to discover and deal with the situation he is in, since I hate seeing Foggy as a buffoon and a fool. He is better than that.

Let me caution also against having Daredevil seem stupid. He is not. And yet, he has lived with blindness long enough, and with the task of dealing with the implications of a dual identity, that his story would have been airtight before he ever went to the police. As for telling the robot he was a blind man — could he know the robot was not able to transmit or record his voice?

All these complaints aside, I loved the scene with the kids, and the thoroughly scary Wacker, and the surprising ending when his wife turns to Murdock.

Let's not have too much of Daredevil fighting against Wolverine. Those two would be marvelously complementary side by side, better than the often-seen Daredevil and Spider-Man as a team.

Thank you for catching my attention again.

Elizabeth Holden
No address

Glad we caught your attention, Elizabeth. Your letter caught ours, so we printed it!

Dear Marvel,

Finally we are seeing the return of the openly-blind Matt Murdock, and possibly the return of the lawyer. I really don't know if this change (if it actually happens) makes me happy or not. I can certainly see Matt's point-of-view (no pun intended). If I was blind, it would drive me insane to be treated like a helpless invalid. And that is exactly what Matt went through on page 20 of DAREDEVIL #248.

I liked Matt as a lawyer, but didn't the state take away his license to practice law? Didn't he want to put the lawyer part of his life behind him? I think in this issue he appreciated just how much of his being a lawyer helped him as Daredevil.

As for the appearance of Wolverine in this issue and unquestioningly next issue, I am enjoying seeing him as he and D.D. sort of share that same aura around them of "Meanness."

I am very glad you are now involving Foggy Nelson in the subplot. As you know from previous letters, I was wondering where he was, and wanted you to use him. As far as Foggy knows, everything is just fine. He wouldn't feel so relaxed if he knew that his law firm was involved with the Kingpin of Crime. Since Kingpin doesn't get a lot of appearances, I'm glad you are using him. Say, why don't you give the Kingpin a mini-series or a one shot? I personally think the Punisher would make a good villain. How about it, Ann?

Thank you for the excellent issue. Keep up the MARVELous work!

Bill Climer
3330 Richwood-La Rue Rd
La Rue, Ohio 43332

Hey, Bill, last time we looked the Punisher was a good guy. A bit on the extreme side, but a good guy. Kingpin The Mini-Series? Hmmmm. Until that happens, check out the DAREDEVIL graphic novel, "LOVE AND WAR" by Frank Miller and Bill Sienkiewicz. The Kingpin has a major part in it!

Dear D.D. Folks,

"Kiss and Kill!" (D.D. #249) was an amazing issue. The cover and the inside artwork were fantastic. Ann Nocenti's stories just keep getting better and better. This one was very disturbing. Bushwacker is one weird character. The way he kills off mutants is grotesque. The way he hung that dancer in a mid-leap dance pose, shows what a sick puppy he is. He needs medical help and fast!

Thanks to the whole DAREDEVIL team for making this issue so great. Keep the DARE in Daredevil.

Robert "Z" Apro
85 Cairns Dr.
Markham, Ontario
L3P 6H9, Canada

So what does the "Z" stand for, Robert? Yes, Bushwacker is weird and sick. What do you expect when a weird, sick, uptight suburbanite like Ralph Macchio is the editor?

—Marc

WAIT JUST A MINUTE! AS THE EDITOR HERE, I DEMAND THAT THE PREVIOUS STATEMENT BE IMMEDIATELY RETRACTED! IT IS ABSOLUTELY UNTRUE AND UNFAIR! HOW DARE YOU INSINUATE THAT I, RALPH MACCHIO, AM A SUBURBANITE?!?

I HOPE THAT STRAIGHTENED THINGS OUT. HMMPH.

—RM

Next issue: Daredevil's newest — and most insidious — nemesis hits the streets of New York! Be here when TYPHOID MARY sizzles her way into DD's life! Of course, nothing happens in New York City without the KINGPIN's knowing! What part will he play in our story? Find out in DAREDEVIL #254 — on sale in thirty days!

BULLPEN BULLETINS

QUOTE OF THE MONTH:

"Happy Holidays, you guys!"

—THE MARVEL BULLPEN

ITEM: After a half year in the nine-to-five grind as head of our peerless Production Department, Jumbo Jim Novak (once our most popular letterer) has heard the scritching of penpoints and the bubbling of inkpots and has decided to pack up his desk and hit the freelance lettering road again. So good luck, Jim — this loss is Marvel's calligraphic gain!

ITEM: Stepping into the breach Jim left will be none other than Virtuous Virginia Romita, who is currently the Traffic Manager for the entire Marvel line. She's the one who keeps track of schedules and lets editors know when the Dreaded Deadline Doom is looming. Vee-Ay has decided not to give up her Trafficking job either — she intends to manage both Traffic and Production! (Whew! It's a big job, but she is a tough lady!)

ITEM: Wait — there's still more people exchanging hats! Erudite Adam Blaustein, assistant editor in the Special Projects department, has accepted a promotion out of the Editorial rank and file. Adam's now going to be a production man — specifically, our liaison with Chemical Color, the fine people who do the color separations for our comic books. Good luck to you in your new position, Adam!

ITEM: And, finally, taking Adam's place in our star-studded editorial line-up is Diligent David Wohl. David's been an editorial assistant on the OFFICIAL HANDBOOK OF THE MARVEL UNIVERSE for most of its run and also did a summer stint as Star Editor Don Daley's assistant. Dave and his comrade-in-arms, Marc Siry (who is now assisting Reliable Ralph Macchio), are proud graduates of Marvel's high school editorial intern program, and both are currently attending college after work. (Satisfied, Marc? We finally found a way to mention you on this page!)

ITEM: If we seem a bit more harried this time than usual, here's why . . . it's MIGHTY MARVEL MOVING MADNESS WEEK, wherein a record-breaking seven editorial teams played musical offices! First, Administrative Manager Lynn Cohen moved from the office outside Editor in Chief Tom DeFalco's designer digs to the duplex desk ten feet outside. Then, Exec Editor Mark Gruenwald moved his worldly goods into Lynn's vacated space. Next, Craig Anderson cleared out the office across the hall from Tom's so Mark's assistant editor, Gregory Wright, could take possession. Then the editorial team of Bob Harras and Bobbie Chase packed their desks and settled into Mark's and Greg's former fortress. That left Bob and Bobbie's creative crawlspace open for Craig Anderson and David Wohl. Got all that so far? Good, 'cause we're only halfway done. Then, Michael Higgins, Mike Rockwitz, and Pat Redding gathered up their bounteous belongings, and the two Mikes moved into departing Production Manager Jim Novak's airy abode, while Pat got a sunless, but single, office to herself. That enabled Special Projects Editor Bob Budiansky and his right hand man Dwayne McDuffie to headquarter themselves in the former Mikes' and Pat's office. Then, finally, the editorial team of Ann Nocenti and Terry Kavanagh (who for the whole summer have been exiled to another floor, because we were short on suitable office space) moved into Bob and Dwayne's coveted corner office. At last, the moving's done, the dust has settled, and Marvel's mighty editorial staff is all on one floor again! Hats off to Office Manager Susie Ehrenreich (who's never been mentioned in this space before — hi, Suze!) for coordinating the whole shebang. (Now, if we could only remember where we accidentally moved all of our artwork, we could publish a few comic books!)

PRO FILE: BOB HARRAS

Editor on: X-FACTOR, INCREDIBLE HULK, G.I. JOE, G.I. JOE SPECIAL MISSIONS, G.I. JOE DIGEST, SPELLBOUND, INHUMANS GRAPHIC NOVEL

Marvel freelance credits (past): Issues of IRON MAN, THOR, AVENGERS, THING and ROBOCOP movie adaptation

Marvel freelance credits (present): The upcoming S.H.I.E.L.D. Limited Series

My hobbies are: Spelunking, hang-gliding, diving off the cliffs of Acapulco, mountain-climbing in the Himalayas and (according to Joanne Spaldo) breaking hearts.

The single work which I am most proud of is: THOR #356 and a parody of ROM I wrote and drew in ROM #50.

My pet peeves are: Munchkins, especially those who belong to the Lollipop Guild.

My place of birth is: Queens, New York

My greatest accomplishment outside the comics field is: Developing an extensive collection of knitted ties (which is the envy of Archie Goodwin) and the uncanny ability to lie with the best of them.

My oddest habit is: Sitting in such strange positions that people wonder if I have a spine.

If they were making a movie of my life, I'd like to see my part played by: Al Pacino.

The reason I got into comics was: I didn't want to grow up (and I've succeeded — ask anyone who knows me).

People who knew me in High School thought I was: Sardonic.

My favorite performers are: Bruce Springsteen and Mark Gruenwald (whose portrayal of Mr. Mature in episode #7 of "Cheap Laffs" is incomparable).

The last good book I read was: WAITING FOR CHILDHOOD by Sumner Locke Eliott

The last good movie I saw was: FATAL ATTRACTION

The biggest influences on my work include: Ralph Macchio, Jim and Tammy Bakker, the other Ralph Macchio, Joe Biden, Jane Austen, Donald Trump and, of course, the obligatory William Shakespeare.

My greatest unfulfilled ambition in the comics field is: To get my freelance work in on time.

The worst part of my job is: Listening to Chris Claremont read his fan mail out loud (and I'm not even his editor!).

When nobody's looking I like to: Look at myself.

The one thing I really want the world to know about me is: I never wear bow ties (despite what Ralph Macchio says).

THE FUTURE IS HERE FOR MILLIONS OF AD&D® GAME PLAYERS.

Step into the Forgotten Realms. The fantastic new campaign world where many future ADVANCED DUNGEONS & DRAGONS® adventures will now take place. A beautiful and wondrous land, so richly defined, it's been ten years in the making.

It's all been laid out in glorious detail in the FORGOTTEN REALMS™ Boxed Adventure Set. Four sprawling full-color maps. Two massive 96-page booklets: The Player's Guide to the Realms and the invaluable Dungeon Master's Sourcebook.

On the horizon are many sourcebooks, modules and exciting new novels. The first FORGOTTEN REALMS novel, Darkwalker on Moonshae, takes you to the mystical Celtic Isles. A battle erupts between the old Ffolk and the evil Bloodriders over the secrets of the mysterious Moonshae Islands.
